About Your Account

How Interest Accrues and How to Avoid Paying Interest on Purchases: On each Purchase, interest begins to accrue on the transaction date. Generally, you can avoid paying interest on standard Purchases in any given billing cycle if you pay your entire statement closing date balance (identified on your Statement as the "New Balance") for that billing cycle in full by the Payment Due Date reflected on that Statement. If you have a promotional balance(s) on your Account, you may still be able to avoid paying interest on standard Purchases provided you pay by the Payment Due Date, the amount that equals the required Minimum Payment Due for that billing cycle plus the total outstanding standard Purchase balance as of the first day of that billing cycle.

Treatment of Late Fees and Returned Payment Fees: We do not charge interest on Late Fees or Returned Payment Fees.

Promotional Offers
If there are any promotional offers on your Account, information about promotional offers will be shown separately on your Statement as long as the promotional offer is in effect. Details of any promotional offer will be described in the specific offer, and the benefits of any such offer may be contingent upon payment of your Account in accordance with the Cardholder Agreement and/or each given promotional offer. The standard provisions of the Cardholder Agreement apply to all transactions not subject to a promotional offer. If you have a deferred interest promotional offer, you must remember to pay your entire deferred interest balance before the expiration date of that offer or you will be assessed interest on the entire balance as of the date of your deferred interest promotional purchase. Paying only the Minimum Payment Due will not pay off your deferred interest promotional balance by the expiration date of that offer. Remember to pay more than the Minimum Payment Due each month to avoid paying accrued interest charges. There may be Promotional Fee associated with certain promotional offers. The amount of the Promotional Fee will depend upon the amount financed and the term of the Promotional Offer and will be disclosed at the time of the purchase on your sales receipt. Please see your Cardholder Agreement for more information about promotional offers.

Credit Reports
You understand that a negative credit report reflecting your credit history record may be submitted to a credit reporting agency if you fail to fulfill the terms of your credit obligations.

Cardholder Agreement
Your Cardholder Agreement contains the terms of your Account.

Credit Bureau Dispute
If mailed to TD Retail Card Services, PO BOX 100270, Columbia, SC 29202-3270, your dispute will be responded to within 30 days. A delay may be experienced if the dispute is not mailed to this address. Be sure to provide your name, address, telephone number, the Account number you are disputing, and why you believe there is an inaccuracy. You understand that calling the Bank will not preserve your rights.

Credit Balance
The Bank will make a good faith effort to return to you any credit balance on your Account over $1.00 if the credit balance has been on the Account longer than six (6) months (or, in the Bank's discretion, for a shorter time period). You may also request a refund of a credit balance on your Account at any time by sending your request to Customer Service at PO Box 100114, Columbia, SC 29202-3114, by first class mail, postage prepaid. The Bank may reduce the amount of any credit balance on your Account by applying the credit balance towards new fees and charges posted to your Account.

Military Waivers
We may waive a fee or reduce a finance charge in a billing cycle to comply with important protections for active duty members of the armed forces and their dependents. Any such waiver or reduction is not a change in the terms of your Cardholder Agreement and does not restrict us from assessing the fee or full finance charge in the future.

YOUR BILLING RIGHTS
About Your Account
Have a billing inquiry or think you found a mistake on your statement?
If you have a billing inquiry or think there is an error on your statement, write to us at: Customer Service, PO Box 100114, Columbia, SC 29202-3114.

- In your letter, please include the following information:
- Account information: Your name and account number
 - Dollar Amount: The dollar amount of the account error
 - Description of the problem: Describe what you believe is wrong, and why you believe it is a mistake.

You must contact us within 60 days after the error appeared on your statement. You must notify us of any potential errors in writing. You may call us at 1-800-434-0050, but if you do we are not required to investigate any potential errors and you may have to pay the amount in question.

- While we investigate whether or not there has been an error, the following are true:
- We cannot try to collect the amount in question, or report you as delinquent on that amount.
 - The charge in question may remain on your statement, and we may continue to charge you interest on that amount. But, if we determine that we made a mistake, you will not have to pay that amount.
 - While you do not have to pay the amount in question, you are responsible for the remainder of your balance.
 - We can apply any unpaid amount against your credit limit.

Your rights if you are dissatisfied with your credit card purchases
If you are dissatisfied with the goods and services that you have purchased with your credit card and you have tried in good faith to correct the problem with the merchant, you may have the right not to pay the remaining amount due on the purchase.

To use this right, all of the following must be true:

1. The purchase must have been made in your home state or within 100 miles of your current mailing address, and the purchase price must have been more than $50. (Note: neither of these are necessary if your purchase was based on an advertisement we mailed to you, or if we own the company that sold you the goods and services.)
2. You must have used the credit card for the purchase. Purchases made with cash advances from an ATM or with a check that accesses your credit card account do not qualify.
3. You must not yet have fully paid for the purchase.

If all of the criteria above are met and you are still dissatisfied with the purchase, contact TD Bank N.A. at 1-800-434-0050 or in writing at: Customer Service, PO Box 100114, Columbia, SC 29202-3114.

While we investigate, the same rules apply to the disputed amount as discussed above. After we finish our investigation, we will tell you our decision. At that point if we think you owe an amount and you do not pay we may report you as delinquent.

Payments received after 5:00pm EST Monday through Saturday (excluding bank holidays) will be credited on the next business day. There may be a five (5) day delay of crediting if payments are not received in U.S. dollars, not made in the envelope provided with the Statement and accompanied by the payment stub which is part of the Statement, and/or not received at the address for payments designated on the Statement. Please allow up to seven (7) days for the U.S. Postal Service to deliver your payment. If you send any such payment to any other address, the Bank may ignore the special notations or instructions and the Bank's crediting any such check or other instrument to amounts you owe under this Agreement does not mean that the Bank has agreed to the special notations or instructions. The Bank does not accept payments at its branches. If the Bank makes a change to its address or another material change to how it processes payments and there is a material delay in the crediting of payments, there will be a courtesy period of 60 days after the effective date of the change before the Bank considers the receipt or payments as late.

How Your Payments Are Applied to Your Account Balance: Subject to the following and applicable law, payments will generally be applied first to the oldest Purchases.

a. How the Minimum Payment is Applied to Your Account: We will generally apply your Minimum Payment Due in the following order: (i) to interest charges and other fees; (ii) to purchase transactions with the lowest Daily Periodic Rates and corresponding APRs.

b. Application of Payments in Excess of Minimum Payment: We will generally apply payments and credits in excess of the Minimum Payment Due in the following order: (i) to purchase transactions with the highest Daily Periodic Rates and corresponding APRs; (ii) to purchase transactions with the lowest Daily Periodic Rates and corresponding APRs; and (iii) to interest charges and other fees.

c. Application of Payments during a Deferred Interest Promotional Offer Period: If you have one or more deferred interest Promotional Offer on your Account (where you were told that no interest would be assessed if you paid the promotional balance in full by the end of the promotional period), payments will be applied differently during the last two billing cycles before the expiration of the deferred interest promotional plan to help ensure that as much of the outstanding balance as possible is repaid by the end of the promotional period. We will apply any payments in excess of the Minimum Payment Due to the promotional plan balance. If more than one promotional offer is expiring when a payment in excess of the Minimum Payment Due is received, we may apply the payment in any manner permitted by applicable law. See Section 2 of this Agreement, as well as disclosures provided to you at the time of the deferred interest offer for more information on this type of promotional offer.

How We Calculate the Interest Charges on Your Account

Interest and any Minimum Interest Charges: Each billing cycle, we separately determine the interest charges on standard Purchases and each separate kind of promotional Purchase. For each type of balance, we determine interest charges each billing cycle by multiplying the Balance Subject to Interest Rate by the applicable Daily Periodic Rate and by then multiplying the result by the number of days in the billing cycle. The Balance Subject to Interest Rate is the average daily balance (including new transactions). To get the total interest charges each billing cycle, we add together the interest charges for all Type of Balances. If you are charged interest in a billing cycle, we will charge a Minimum Interest Charge (or "Minimum Charge") on your Account if the total interest charge in that billing cycle is less than $1.00. If a minimum interest charge is assessed on your Account in a billing cycle, it will appear on your Statement as a "Minimum Charge" and will be included in the "Total Fees for this Billing Period" section on your Statement.

How We Will Calculate Interest on Your Account: We use a method called "Average Daily Balance (including new transactions)" to compute the interest charge. For each type of balance, the Balance Subject to Interest Rate is the total of the closing daily balances for all the days in the billing cycle (treating any negative balance as $0), divided by the number of days in such cycle. Generally, the closing daily balance for each type of balance equals the balance at the beginning of the day, plus any new transactions and less any payments applied to such transactions. At the beginning of each billing cycle, the closing daily balance for each type of balance will also include any applicable interest charges and fees carried over from the immediately preceding billing cycle; and the standard Purchase balance may include any remaining unpaid promotional balance (which will also include any interest charges that may have been assessed on the unpaid promotional balance) from a promotional offer that ended on the last day of the immediately preceding billing cycle.
